UC Berkeley Summer Sessions

in Berkeley, CA

Founded in 1868, in the wake of the gold rush by leaders of the newly established 31st state, the University of California's flagship campus at Berkeley has become one of the preeminent universities in the world. Its early guiding lights, charged with providing education for the state's people, gradually established a distinguished faculty, with 22 Nobel laureates to date, a stellar research library, and more than 350 academic programs.

UC Berkeley Summer Sessions offers over 600 high quality, innovative Berkeley undergraduate courses, and experiential education opportunities during the summer. Over two-thirds of students in summer courses are degree-seeking Berkeley students, but by opening its doors to visiting students Summer Sessions supports the University's goals of educating a broad and diverse student population. Programs include the International Dual Degree programs, the Freshman & Transfer Edge program for newly admitted freshmen & transfers, and a Pre-College program for continuing high school students.

The Berkeley Pre-College Scholars: Summer Virtual Program offers international and domestic high school students the opportunity to join an online community of scholars and pursue their academic goals at the world's No. 1 public institution. Pre-College Scholars participants will earn college credit with other students from Berkeley and around the world. From the convenience of home, participants will be able to connect with UC Berkeley students, staff, and faculty.

All of the things that make Berkeley a great place are virtually waiting for motivated scholars. In addition to academics, there are optional, online extracurricular activities and events that will give students a chance to expand their personal and social horizons, learn practical information, and enjoy Berkeley outside of the 'classroom.' College exploration workshops, community building socials, and interactive extracurricular activities are planned by UC Berkeley Pre-College Ambassadors and program staff.

Pre-College participants choose from a wide range of academic disciplines, including Arts & Humanities, Social Sciences, STEM, and many more, that meet and challenge their desire to learn. Whether looking for the next set of courses beyond their high school offerings, exploring a possible college major, or seeking to learn something new in an area of special interest, students can find it at Berkeley in the summer! Learn from and with the best, and our staff will work with scholars every step of the way. For more specific information and FAQs, please visit this page.
